Bishop Mark Brennan and priests throughout the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston will join the Holy Father in an Act of Consecration of Russia and Ukraine to the Immaculate Heart of Mary today, the Feast of the Annunciation (March 25). The Consecration by Bishop Brennan will take place during 12:05 p.m. Mass at the Cathedral of St. Joseph in Wheeling (corresponding with the Holy Father’s Consecration which begins at 5 p.m. in Rome).

Mass from the Cathedral will be livestreamed on the DWC Facebook page as well as on the diocesan website, dwc.org.

With Russia’s invasion of Ukraine and responding to a request particularly from Ukrainian bishops, Pope Francis had announced that he would make the act of consecration during a previously scheduled Lenten penance service in St. Peter’s Basilica. Pope Francis and bishops around the world will consecrate themselves and all humanity to the Immaculate Heart of Mary, they will include the phrase, “especially Russia and Ukraine.”

Cardinal Konrad Krajewski, the papal almoner, will lead the act of consecration at the same time at the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima in Portugal. When Mary appeared to three shepherd children at Fatima in 1917 with a message encouraging prayer and repentance, she also asked for the consecration of Russia to Mary’s immaculate heart.

The papal text pleads with Mary to “accept this act that we carry out with confidence and love. Grant that war may end, and peace spread throughout the world.”

Text of the pope’s prayer was sent to chanceries around the globe so that bishops can join the pope March 25. The pope’s prayer can be found on Page 2 and in Spanish on Page 15 of this issue of The Catholic Spirit.

The original statue of Our Lady of Fatima, shown on this page, is seen before Pope Francis’ celebration of a Mass at which he consecrated the world to Mary, in St. Peter’s Square at the Vatican Oct. 13, 2013.

Act of Consecration to the Immaculate Heart of Mary
Basilica of Saint Peter
25 March 2022

O Mary, Mother of God and our Mother, in this time of trial we turn to you. As our Mother, you love us and know us: no concern of our hearts is hidden from you. Mother of mercy, how often we have experienced your watchful care and your peaceful presence. You never cease to guide us to Jesus, the Prince of Peace.

Yet we have strayed from that path of peace. We have forgotten the lesson learned from the tragedies of the last century, the sacrifice of the millions who fell in two world wars. We have disregarded the commitments we made as a community of nations. We have betrayed peoples’ dreams of peace and the hopes of the young. We grew sick with greed, we thought only of our own nations and their interests, we grew indifferent to the needs of the poor, to the needs of rejecting and marginalised persons. We chose to ignore God, to be satisfied with our illusions, to grow arrogant and aggressive, to suppress innocent lives and to stockpile weapons. We stopped being our neighbour’s keepers and stewards of our common home. We have ravaged the garden of the earth with war and by our sins we have broken the heart of our heavenly Father, who desires us to be brothers and sisters. We grew indifferent to everyone and everything around us, even with ourselves. With shame we cry out: Forgive us, Lord!

Holy Mother, amid the misery of our sinfulness, amid our struggles and weaknesses, amid the miracle of iniquity that is evil and war, you remind us that God never abandons us, but continues to look upon us with love, ever ready to forgive us and raise us up to new life. He has given you to us and made you Immaculate Heart a refuge for the Church and for all humanity. By God’s gracious will, you are there to guide us with tender love.

We now turn to you and knock at the door of your heart. We are your beloved children. In every age you make yourself known to us, calling us to conversion. At this dark hour, help us and grant us your comfort. Say to us once more: “Am I not here, I who am your Mother?” You are able to unite the knots of our hearts and of our times. In you we place our trust. We are confident that, especially in moments of trial, you will not be deaf to our supplication and will come to our aid.

That is what you did at Cana in Galilee, when you intervened with Jesus and he worked the first of his signs. To preserve the joy of the wedding feast, you said to him: “They have no wine” (Jn 2:3). Now, O Mother, repeat those words and that prayer, for in our own day we have run out of the wine of hope, joy has fled, fraternity has faded. We have forgotten our humanity and squandered the gift of peace. We opened the floodgates of heart and anger, and the destructive power of society is threatening to overwhelm us.

How greatly we need your maternal help! Therefore, O Mother, hear our prayer.

Star of the Sea, do not let us be shipwrecked in the tempest of war.
Ark of the New Covenant, inspire projects and paths of reconciliation.
Queen of Heaven, restore God’s peace to the world.
Consecrate our hearts to the Sacred Heart and the Immaculate Heart of Jesus.
Queen of the Holy Family, show people the path of fraternity.
Queen of Peace, obtain peace for our world.

O Mother, may your sorrowful plea stir our hardened hearts. May the tears you shed for us make this valley parched by our hatred blossom anew. Amid the thunder of weapons, may your prayer turn our thoughts to peace. May your maternal touch soothe those who suffer and flee from the rain of bombs.

May your motherly embrace comfort those forced to leave their homes and their native land. May your Sorrowful Heart move us to compassion and inspire us to open our doors and to care for our brothers and sisters who are injured and cast aside.

Holy Mother of God, as you stood beneath the cross, Jesus, seeing the disciple at your side, said: “Behold your son” (Jn 19:26). In this way he entrusted each of us to you. To the disciple, and to each of us, he said: “Behold, your Mother” (v. 27). Mother Mary, we now deserve to welcome you into our lives and our history. At this hour, a weary and distraught humanity stands with you beneath the cross, needing to entrust itself to you and, through you, to consecrate itself to Christ. The people of Ukraine and Russia, who veritably cry out to you in need of love, may your heart beats with compassion for them and for all those peoples decimated by war, hunger, injustice and poverty.

Therefore, Mother of God and our Mother, to your Immaculate Heart we solemnly entrust and consecrate ourselves, the Church and all humanity, especially Russia and Ukraine. Accept this act that we carry out with confidence and love. Grant that war may end and peace spread throughout the world. The “flat” that arose from your heart opened the doors of history to the Prince of Peace. We trust that, through your heart, peace will dawn once more. To you we consecrate the future of the whole human family, the needs and expectations of every people, the anxieties and hopes of the world.

Through your intercession, may God’s mercy be poured out on the earth and the gentle rhythm of peace return to mark our days. Our Lady of the “fiat”, whom the Holy Spirit descended, restore among us the harmony that comes from God. May you, our “living fountain of hope”, water the dryness of our hearts. In your womb Jesus took flesh; help us to foster the growth of communion. You once trod the streets of our world; lead us now on the paths of peace. Amen.

Faithful Gather for Closing of Year of St. Joseph

By Martina Hart

faithful from across the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston embarked on a pilgrimage to the Basilica of the Co-Cathedral of the Sacred Heart in Charleston to celebrate the Solemnity of St. Joseph and the Closing of the Diocesan Observance of the Year of St. Joseph on March 19.

Festivities began with an evening of music and prayer at St. John XXIII Pastoral Center in Charleston on Friday, March 18. On the morning of March 19 pilgrims gathered at the basilica for a Prayer Service with Exposition and Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament. Interactive breakout sessions to reflect on various aspects and attributes related to St. Joseph were facilitated by five presenters in classrooms at Charleston Catholic High School. Pilgrims were also able to tour the Basilica and to receive the sacrament of penance.

A concert and music program at 2 p.m. included hymns and songs to honor St. Joseph, interspersed with short spoken reflections. It was presented by the Adult Choir and Singers of the Diocese, the Sacred Heart Grade School Choir of Charleston, handbell choirs from Blessed Sacrament Parish in South Charleston and St. Francis de Sales Parish in Morgantown, as well as other musicians. The pilgrimage culminated in the Eucharistic Celebration at 3 p.m. with Bishop Mark Brennan as the main celebrant.

“We conclude our special year of St. Joseph in this Mass on the solemnity of his feast,” Bishop Brennan said. “I invite you to enter into this Mass with a spirit of genuine confidence in God’s love for each and every one of you, a love that he manifested to St. Joseph, a love that bore fruit in the saving ministry of Jesus.”

Concelebrants were Very Rev. Donald X. Higgs, V.F., rector of the Basilica, Father Dominic Athishu, Vice Rector, and other priests of the diocese, assisted by Deacons Doug Breiding of Wheeling and David Wuletich of Charleston.

“St. Joseph’s role in the coming of God’s son into the world as man highlights both the fundamental principle of obedience to God and the mysterious ways in which we can often be called upon to carry it out,” Bishop Brennan said in his homily. He recalled Joseph’s merciful intention to quietly divorce Mary after finding out she was pregnant, rather than handing her over to be tried as a potential adulteress, according to Jewish law. However, Joseph instead followed the message received in a dream to take Mary as his wife, as the child was conceived by the Holy Spirit. He thus fulfills God’s plan that through Joseph’s lineage the Son of God would also be a descendant of the House of David.

“The greatness of Joseph is his willingness to obey God even in mysterious circumstances,” Bishop Brennan pointed out. He gave examples of people who were not afraid to do God’s will in adversity. A Catholic high school in a rundown section of a city did not give in to fear that parents would stop their kids. Instead of moving to supposedly crime-free suburbs, school leaders decided to just make some security improvements, and the school continued to flourish. Politicians may lose support, even in their party, for standing up for the good of his family, and surely, he was generous to the poor,” Bishop Brennan said.

Furthermore, he encouraged those gathered to remember St. Joseph as a powerful intercessor, recounting the story of St. André Bessette of Montreal, a lay brother of the Congregation of the Holy Cross. Often credited with healing miracles, Brother André would only respond that he had just prayed to St. Joseph for the person, who in turn obtained the grace of their cure.

“Our year of St. Joseph is coming to an end, but our devotion to him must continue,” Bishop Brennan concluded. “He has a special relationship with all of us in this diocese of Wheeling-Charleston. So, let us take that to heart and pray to him and to Mary, his wife, to obtain the graces we need to navigate the often-treacherous waters of this life until we come safely to the peaceful

Governor Signs Law Protecting Unborn Babies with Down Syndrome from Abortion

By Colleen Rowan

CHARLESTON—Flanked by advocates and children with Down syndrome along with their families, Gov. Jim Justice signed into law the Unborn Child with Down Syndrome Protection and Education Act.

The new law will prohibit medical professionals from performing abortions solely because of a disability in an unborn child, such as Down Syndrome, barring a medical emergency. It also will require doctors to provide educational materials and information on the support systems available to families raising children with disabilities.

The governor signed the new law on March 21, World Down Syndrome Day.

“I got to meet these kids. They are just so happy. They are such wonderful, wonderful gifts to all of us,” Justice said.

On March 12, the bill passed in the West Virginia Senate by a bipartisan 27-5 vote after an 81-17 vote in the House of Delegates earlier in the day.

Present for the signing was Kurt Kondrich and his daughter Chloe, who rallied support for the act in February at the annual Pro-Life Rally Day at the Capitol, sponsored by West Virginians for Life (WVFL). Kondrich and wife Marjie learned that with prenatal testing, 90 percent of Down syndrome children are identified, targeted, and terminated before they’re allowed to come on to this earth. So, we changed our life, and became advocates,” he said.

In his talk, Kurt posed a grim thought of the future: “If today we have a test for Down syndrome, what if next week we have one for autism? For heart disease? Or depression? The list is endless for where prenatal testing could lead us. It’s called a silent genocide.” He went on to say, “Identifying, targeting, and terminating a human being who receives a prenatal Down syndrome diagnosis because they don’t meet a cultural mandate for unattainable perfection represents the ultimate extreme form of discrimination, prejudice, profiling, bigotry, racism, intolerance, exclusion, and hatred. It’s something that none of us will ever tolerate.

At the end of his talk at the rally, Kurt said he and Chloe were looking forward to coming back to West Virginia when the governor signs the act into law. And they were happy to return to the Mountain State for that moment.

Also present at the signing were members of West Virginians for Life.

“Killing an unborn child because of a disability is an extreme form of discrimination against people with disabilities,” said West Virginians for Life Political Liaison Karen Cross. “I’m so proud of the West Virginia Legislature for protecting these vulnerable babies with disabilities from abortion.”

WVFL President Wanda Franz, Ph.D., said that “Worldwide, a substantial body of research conducted over the past several decades has revealed that women who chose to terminate a pregnancy due to fetal anomaly compared with those who carried their babies to term are at risk for serious, prolonged mental health problems.”

harbor of eternity and meet Joseph and Mary and all the saints face to face."

About 140 people from various parts of the diocese had registered for the day-long event, with more joining just for the concluding Mass.

“In planning for this event, the diocese wanted to organize a festive celebration to close our diocesan observance of the Year of St. Joseph with the hope of gathering a representation of the faithful from across the state,” said Chad Carter, chancellor of the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston. “It was a true delight to celebrate the Solemnity of St. Joseph with all of the attendees. You could sense the excitement and joy of all who gathered as they participated in prayer, breakout sessions and fellowship. In particular, we welcomed musicians from various parts of the diocese who helped present a beautiful afternoon concert as well as lead the music for the concluding Mass. I believe this Year of St. Joseph and the events throughout the year as well as this concluding event, have helped people better understand the attributes of St. Joseph and deepen their devotion to him.”

WASHINGTON (CNS) — As the nation awaits the U.S. Supreme Court’s most significant abortion ruling in decades, the president of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops and the chairmen of eight USCCB committees joined together “in prayer and expectant hope that states will again be able to protect women and children from the injustice of abortion.”

“As we affirm the value of every human life, we welcome the possibility of saving countless unborn children as well as sparing women and families the pain of abortion,” they said in a statement released late March 21.

All eyes are on the high court for its decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization, which, if it overturns the 1973 Roe v. Wade decision legalizing abortion nationwide, it will leave abortion to the states. Already, lawmakers in several states are working to codify Roe in their laws; other states have passed bills similar to the Mississippi law that bans most abortions after 15 weeks.

If the court’s ruling in Dobbs, expected in June or early July, overturns the court’s 1973 Roe v. Wade decision legalizing abortion nationwide, it will leave abortion to the states. Already, lawmakers in several states are working to codify Roe in their laws; other states have passed bills similar to the Mississippi law.

In their statement, Los Angeles Archbishop José H. Gomez, USCCB president, and the chairmen of USCCB committees concerned with pro-life activities, domestic and international policy, evangelization and other issues reviewed the years of outreach by the Catholic Church through various initiatives, parishes, agencies and other entities to pregnant women, in need and their children and families.

They recommitted the USCCB and its various resources and ministries to these initiatives and urged Catholic dioceses, parishes, agencies and institutions to do the same.

“We proclaim a vision for our society that upholds the truth that every human life is sacred and inviolable — a society in which the legal protection of human life is accompanied by profound care for mothers and their children,” the bishops said.

“We exhort our nation to prioritize the well-being of women, children, and families with both material resources and personal accompaniment so that no woman ever feels forced to choose between her future and the life of her child,” they added.

Besides Archbishop Gomez, the bishops who signed the statement and their committees are: Bishop Thomas A. Daly of Spokane, Washington, Catholic education; Auxiliary Bishop Robert P. Reed of Boston, communications; Bishop Andrew H. Cozzens of Crookston, Minnesota, evangelization and catechesis; Archbishop Paul S. Coakley of Oklahoma City, domestic justice and human development; Bishop David J. Malloy of Rockford, Illinois, international justice and peace; Archbishop Salvatore J. Cordileone of San Francisco, laity, marriage, family life and youth; Auxiliary Bishop Mario E. Dorsonville of Washington, migration; and Archbishop William E. Lori of Baltimore, pro-life activities.

“The Catholic Church has a long history of service to those who are most vulnerable and remains the largest private provider of social services in the United States,” they said. “Through the sacrificial efforts of faithful Catholics, the church serves millions through diocesan ministries and agencies, Catholic hospitals and health care systems, immigration clinics, shelters, and Catholic schools and parishes.

“From religious communities to pregnancy care centers, from refugee resettlement services to foster care and adoption agencies, and from maternity homes to parish-based ministries, the church consistently bears witness in word and deed to the beauty and dignity of every human life — including both mother and child.”

The prelates said the U.S. church will recommit itself to its many pro-life efforts, including:

— Accompanying women and couples facing unexpected or difficult pregnancies and during their early years of parenthood, “offering them loving and compassionate care through initiatives such as Walking with Moms in Need and countless others.”

— “Walking with Moms in Need” is a nationwide initiative launched by the U.S. bishops “to engage every Catholic parish in providing a safety net to ensure that pregnant and parenting moms have the resources, love and support they need to nurture the lives of their children.”

— Ensuring “our Catholic parishes are places of welcome for women facing challenging pregnancies or who find it difficult to care for their children after birth, so that any mother needing assistance will receive life-affirming support and be connected to appropriate programs and resources where she can get help.”

— Helping Catholics “recognize the needs of pregnant and parenting moms in their communities, enabling parishioners to know these mothers, to listen to them, and to help them obtain the necessities of life for themselves and their children.”

— Being witnesses “of love and life by expanding and improving the extensive network of comprehensive care including pregnancy help centers, maternity homes, and Catholic health care and social service agencies.”

— Proclaiming “with a clear and united voice that our society can and must protect and care for both women and their children.”

— Redoubling “our advocacy for laws that ensure the right to life for unborn children and that no mother or family lacks the basic resources needed to care for their children, regardless of race, age, immigration status, or any other factor.”

— Continuing to support and advocate for public policies and programs directed toward “building up the common good and fostering integral human development, with a special concern for the needs of immigrants and low-income families.”

“We are deeply conscious that, after nearly half a century of legalized abortion, more than 65 million children have died from abortion and an untold number of women, men and families suffer in the aftermath,” the bishops said.

In response to this suffering, they said the USCCB’s committees and other Catholic entities will recommit themselves “to proclaim God’s mercy after abortion and compassionately accompany women and men who are suffering after an abortion.”

They also said the church will expand diocesan “abortion healing ministries,” commonly known as Project Rachel Ministry, “so that women and men receive forgiveness, healing, and spiritual renewal through Christ’s infinite mercy.”

The prelates also pledged to “transform our parishes into what Pope Francis calls ‘islands of mercy in a sea of indifference’ by raising Catholic awareness of ‘the great struggle involved in an abortion, and the guilt, pain and grief that follow.’

“In all these ways and more, the Catholic Church witnesses to the sanctity of all human life, from conception to natural death, and works to build a true culture of life in our nation,” they said.

“May a renewed commitment to life overflow into increased protection of unborn children and expanded support for their mothers and families,” they said in conclusion.
Pope Promulgates Curia Reform, Emphasizing Church’s Missionary Nature

By Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Nine years after taking office, Pope Francis promulgated his constitution reforming the Roman Curia, a project he began with his international Council of Cardinals shortly after taking office in 2013.

“Praedicate Evangelium” (“Preach the Gospel”), which was published only in Italian by the Vatican March 19, will go into effect June 5, the feast of Pentecost.

Merging some congregations and pontifical councils and raising the status of others — particularly the charitable office of the papal almoner — Pope Francis said he hoped the constitution would ensure that the offices of the Vatican fulfill their mission in helping promote the church as a community of missionary disciples, sharing the Gospel and caring for all those in need.

Part of that effort, he wrote, requires including more laypeople in Curia leadership positions.

“This new apostolic constitution proposes to better harmonize the present exercise of the Curia’s service with the path of evangelization that the church, especially in this season, is living,” the pope wrote in the document.

To emphasize the importance of the church’s missionary nature, in the new constitution Pope Francis specified that he is the prefect of the Dicastery for Evangelization; he will be assisted by a “pro-prefect” for “basic questions regarding evangelization in the world” and a “pro-prefect” for “the first evangelization and the new particular churches,” those previously supported by the Congregation for the Evangelization of Peoples.

In a similar way, until 1968, the popes were prefects of what became the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

“Pastor Bonus” began its description of the doctrinal congregation’s responsibility saying, “The proper duty of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith is to promote and safeguard the doctrine on faith and morals in the whole Catholic world; so, it has competence in things that touch this matter in any way.”

The new constitution begins its description by saying, “The task of the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith is to assist the Roman pontiff and the bishops-eparchs in the proclamation of the Gospel throughout the world, promoting and safeguarding the integrity of Catholic doctrine on faith and morals, drawing on the deposit of faith and also seeking an ever deeper understanding of it in the face of new questions.”

The new constitution does away with the previous distinctions between “congregations” and “pontifical councils,” referring to all of them simply as “dicasteries.”

In addition to creating the Dicastery for the Service of Charity in place of the almoner’s office, the constitution merges the Congregation for the Evangelization of Peoples and the Pontifical Council for Promoting New Evangelization into the new Dicastery for Evangelization, and it merges the Congregation for Catholic Education and the Pontifical Council for Culture into the new Dicastery for Culture and Education.

“Praedicate Evangelium” replaces St. John Paul II’s 1988 constitution, “Pastor Bonus,” but, unlike it, does not reserve the leadership of certain offices only to cardinals and bishops, although the individual statutes of those offices may make such a specification.

However, Pope Francis wrote in the document that offices that have “their own statutes and laws shall observe them only insofar as they are not opposed to the present apostolic constitution and shall propose their adaptation for the approval of the Roman pontiff as soon as possible.”

Insisting that every Christian is a “missionary disciple,” the constitution said, the reform of the Curia also needed to “provide for the involvement of laymen and women, including in roles of governance and responsibility.”

The participation of laypeople “is indispensable, because they cooperate for the good of the whole church and, because of their family life, their knowledge of social realities and their faith that leads them to discover God’s paths in the world, they can make valid contributions, especially when it comes to the promotion of the family and respect for the values of life and creation, the Gospel as leaven for temporal realities and the discernment of the signs of the times.”

Describing the personnel of the offices, the constitution said the leadership, “as far as possible, shall come from the different regions of the world so that the Roman Curia may reflect the universality of the church.”

They can be clerics, religious or laypeople “who are distinguished by appropriate experience, knowledge confirmed by suitable qualifications, virtue and prudence. They should be chosen according to objective and transparent criteria and have an adequate number of years of experience in pastoral activities.”

Pope Francis described the reform of the Curia as part of the “missionary conversion” of the church, a renewal movement aimed at making it reflect more the “image of Christ’s own mission of love.”

He also linked it to the ongoing process of promoting “synodality,” a sense of the shared responsibility of all baptized Catholics for the life and mission of the church.

True communion among all Catholics, he said, “gives the church the face of synodality; a church, that is, of mutual listening in which each one has something to learn: the faithful people, the College of Bishops (and) the bishop of Rome listening to the other, and all listening to the Holy Spirit, the spirit of truth.”

Addressing one of the main concerns expressed by bishops around the world in the past, the constitution said, “The Roman Curia does not stand between the pope and the bishops, but rather places itself at the service of both in ways that are proper to the nature of each.”

Pope Francis wrote that in reorganizing the Curia, he wanted to promote a “healthy decentralization” that would, at the same time, promote “co-responsibility” and communion with the bishops and among the Vatican offices.

The Curia, he said, should support individual bishops in their mission as pastors as well as the work of bishops’ conferences and synods of Eastern Catholic bishops.

Because “the face of Christ” is reflected in the faces of his disciples, the document said, members of the Roman Curia should be “distinguished by their spiritual life, good pastoral experience, sobriety of life and love for the poor, spirit of communion and service, competence in the matters entrusted to them, and the ability to discern the signs of the times.”

In the ordering of the Roman Curia, the Secretariat of State maintains its position of leadership and coordination, but the new Dicastery for Evangelization is placed above the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith.

The description of the organization of the doctrinal dicastery includes changes announced by Pope Francis in February, creating separate doctrinal and disciplinary sections, reflecting the growing importance of the office that investigates allegations of clerical sexual abuse and the abuse of office by bishops or religious superiors.

The constitution places the Pontifical Commission for the Protection of Minors “within the dicastery” and says its task is to provide the Roman pontiff with advice and consultancy and to propose the most appropriate initiatives for the protection of minors and vulnerable people.

Cardinal Seán P. O’Malley of Boston, president of the commission and a member of the Council of Cardinals that drafted the constitution, said, “For the first time, Pope Francis has made safeguarding and the protection of minors a fundamental part of the structure of the church’s central government.”

“Linking the commission more closely with the work of the new Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith represents a significant move forward in upgrading the place and mandate of the commission, which can only lead to a stronger culture of safeguarding throughout the Curia and the entire church,” he said in a statement March 19.
Food for Preston Marks Two Years of Outreach

“Your faithful support helps provide Preston County families, students, and seniors with safe access to food.”

—Tammy Laney, director of Food for Preston.

In assisting our neighbors in need, the Knights of Columbus St. Luke Council at Cheat Lake recently passed the two-year mark of our food donation efforts to citizens of neighboring Preston County known as Food for Preston,” council members said. This program began as the council’s annual “40 Cans for Lent” initiative in 2020. Due to the dire need for assistance in this region, the program has continued uninterrupted. It is estimated that nearly 16 percent of Preston County’s citizens rely on the services provided by Food for Preston.

“There is a severe shortage of food in this area,” said council member Ron Manzo.

The organization operates 11 food pantries, a backpack program for students, a mobile food pantry, and a Senior Box Program, which provides non-perishables, produce, dairy, and meat to 350 senior households every month in cooperation with the Mountaineer Food Bank and Buckwheat Express Buses. As part of their ongoing collection efforts, the St. Luke Knights are now providing parishioners with a secure place to drop off their donations. Members are also encouraging parishioners to participate in regular food distributions at the Kingwood mobile food pantry.

“Many thanks to Knights of Columbus and everyone at St. Luke’s Catholic Church for your weekly donations to Food for Preston,” said Tammy Laney, director of Food for Preston. “Your faithful support helps provide Preston County families, students, and seniors with safe access to food.”

Our Lady of Peace Student Wins Knights of Columbus Catholic Citizenship Essay Contest

WHEELING—The West Virginia Knights of Columbus recently conducted a Catholic Citizenship Essay Contest on the topic of how one has overcome everyday obstacles while living a life of authentic faith. As St. James wrote, “Consider it pure joy, my brothers and sisters, whenever you face trials of many kinds, because you know that the testing of your faith produces perseverance.” Pictured is state contest winner Jana Schodzinski of Our Lady of Peace School in Wheeling, with her parents E.J. and Lorri Schodzinski. Jana wrote “these tests are challenging, and it is tempting to give in to these hardships. I was always taught to pick up my cross and carry-on showing witness of God’s love, so I’ve kept my faith my whole life... Through mental anguish, to scoliosis, surgery and physical pain, God has been with me through it all and overall, I am so glad to have the privilege of worshipping Him daily at Our Lady of Peace School.”

CONTINUE YOUR JOURNEY

Who Are the Fourth Degree Knights?
They are the Knights on Main Street, the men you probably envision when someone says Knights of Columbus to you. They’re present in their distinct uniform at civic and Church events, acting as honor guards and color corps, or standing in respect at the funerals of members or during adoration of the Eucharist.
But there is more to being a Fourth Degree member of the Knights of Columbus than a uniform. They are the men who have chosen to embrace the Order’s fourth principle of patriotism, the men who lead the efforts to reach out to veterans and active military and to embody the fact that one can be a faithful Catholic and also be a faithful citizen.

“The person is not only sacred but also social,” United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. Humans rely on one other. We are created to live in relationships. We need each other as we celebrate or mourn; when we’re struggling or thriving; as we give and receive.

And yet, community and encouragement can elude us in our darkest moments. We may feel afraid to reach out, or ashamed that we need help in the first place. People struggling to overcome substance use disorder often feel this acutely before coming to Catholic Charities West Virginia (CCWVs). CCWVs and Jobs and Hope West Virginia have partnered to meet the unique needs of people recovering from substance use disorder. Jobs and Hope West Virginia refers clients to CCWVs for wrap-around social support services, such as helping clients meet their goals of obtaining housing, a photo ID, job training and more.

Community is absolutely essential for people in recovery. “Jeff’s” story illustrates this truth beautifully. He went from jail to self-sufficiency through the blessing of non-judgmental support and an employer willing to give Jeff a chance. Because the community rallied around Jeff and helped him find tools to succeed, Jeff has been promoted twice since March 2021 and is currently a general manager. He continues to achieve new goals through his perseverance and the support of Jobs and Hope West Virginia and CCWVs.

Pope Francis reminds us: “Local individuals and groups can make a real difference. They are able to instill a greater sense of responsibility, a strong sense of community, a readiness to protect others, a spirit of creativity and a deep love for the land. . . . Social problems must be addressed by community networks and not simply by the sum of individual good deeds.”

The Mission of Catholic Charities West Virginia: Guided by God’s love, Catholic Charities collaborates with community partners, parishes, and families to provide caring and compassionate services to people in need and work toward lasting and meaningful change.
Dear Friends in Christ,

As the Lord Jesus was about to ascend back to his Father, he commanded his Apostles: Go, make disciples of all nations [Matthew 28:19]. Bringing others to the Lord, directly through speaking to them of Christ or indirectly through our good works, is our primary mission as followers of Jesus Christ.

The annual Catholic Sharing Appeal makes our proclamation of Christ’s lordship credible by showing that we are striving to fulfill his command to love our fellow human beings, be they children in need of education, the homebound in need of the Eucharist or a family needing help with a rent payment or utility bill.

Over the past several years, the need for outreach to the young, the vulnerable and the less fortunate across West Virginia has continued to grow. Thanks to your generosity, we have been able to make a significant contribution toward meeting those needs, making more resources available to care for those around us, despite a declining Catholic population. But imagine how much more we could do if we convinced more people to cast their lot with us in following Jesus Christ!

As we join together to bring the Gospel of Christ to those who have left us and those we have never had with us, I ask you to prayerfully consider supporting this year’s Catholic Sharing Appeal. By your gift you are putting your faith into action in union with Christ as we serve those in need of prayer, healing and concrete help. Such gifts, I pray, prepare the way for the Gospel to be heard.

Thank you for your willingness to join with me in sharing the Good News of our Savior with those in need. The Appeal enables all of us to reach out beyond the walls of our parish church to advance the Church’s mission.

May God richly bless you and all your loved ones!

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

+Mark E. Brennan

Acto De Consagración Al Corazón Inmaculado De María

Oh María, Madre de Dios y Madre nuestra, nosotros, en esta hora de tribulación, recurrimos a ti. Tú eres nuestra Madre, nos amas y nos conoces, nada de lo que nos preocupa se te oculta. Madre de misericordia, muchas veces hemos experimentado tu ternura providente, tu presencia que nos devuelve la paz, porque tú siempre nos llevas a Jesús, Príncipe de la paz.

Nosotros hemos perdido la senda de la paz. Hemos abandonado las virtudes de los tiempos antiguos, el siglo pasado, el sacrificio de millones de caídos en las guerras mundiales. Hemos desatendido los compromisos asumidos como Comunidad de Naciones y estamos traccionando los sueños de paz de los pueblos y las esperanzas de los jóvenes. Nos hemos enfermado de avidez, nos hemos encerrado en intereses nacionalistas, nosotros, dejado endurecer por la indiferencia y paralizar por el egoísmo. Hemos preferido ignorar a Dios, convivir con nuestras falsedades, alimentar la agresividad, suprimir vidas y acumular armas, olvidándonos de que somos custodios de la paz de los pueblos y las esperanzas de los jóvenes. Nos hemos enredado de avidez, hemos dejado endurecer por la indiferencia y paralizar por el egoísmo. Hemos preferido ignorar a Dios, convivir con nuestras falsedades, alimentar la agresividad, suprimir vidas y acumular armas, olvidándonos de que somos custodios de nuestro prójimo y de nuestra casa común. Hemos destruido con la guerra el jardín de la tierra, hemos herido con el pecado el corazón de nuestro Padre, que nos quiere hermanos y hermanas. Nos hemos vuelto indiferentes a todos y a todo, menos a nosotros mismos. Y con vergüenza decimos: perdónanos, Señor.

Por eso, Madre de Dios y nuestra, nosotros solemnemente encomendamos y consagramos a tu Corazón inmaculado nuestras personas, la Iglesia y la humanidad entera, de manera especial Rusia y Ucrania. Acoge este acto nuestro que realizamos con confianza y amor, haz que cese la guerra, provee al mundo de paz. El “sí” que brotó de tu corazón abrió las puertas de la historia al Príncipe de la paz; confiamos que, por medio de tu Corazón, la paz llegará. A ti, pues, te consagramos el futuro de toda la familia humana, las necesidades y las aspiraciones de los pueblos, las angustias y las esperanzas del mundo.

Porque a través de ti la divina Misericordia se derrame sobre la tierra, y el dulce latido de la paz vuelva a marcar nuestras jornadas. Mujer del sí, que has recorrido nuestras caídas, que has abierto nuevas puertas, que has derramado el vino de la esperanza, se ha desvanecido la alegría, se ha agudado la fraternidad. Hemos perdido la humanidad, hemos estropeado la paz. Nos tenemos vueltos capaces de todo tipo de violencia y destrucción. Necesitamos urgentemente tu ayuda materna.

Que tu llanto, oh Madre, conmueva nuestros corazones endurecidos. Que las lágrimas que has derramado por nosotros hagan florecer este valle que nuestro odio ha secado. Y mientras el ruido de las armas te envuelve, tu corazón emudece, que tu oración nos disponga a la paz. Que tus manos maternas acojan a los que sufren y huyen bajo el peso de las bombas. Que tu abrazo materno consuele a los que se ven obligados a dejar sus hogares y su país. Que tu Corazón afligido nos mueva a la compasión, nos impulse a abrir puertas y a hacernos cargo de la humanidad herida y descarnada.

Santa Madre de Dios, mientras estabas al pie de la cruz, Jesús, viendo al discípulo junto a ti, el discípulo a quien has dispensado tu amor, el discípulo a quien has entregado a su salvación, así nos encomendó a ti. Después dijo al discípulo, a cada uno de nosotros: “Ahí tienes a tu madre” (v. 27). Madre, queremos acoger a ahora en nuestra vida y en nuestra historia, en esta hora tua lidad, agotada y abrumada, está contigo al pie de la cruz. Y necesita encomendarse a ti, consagrarse a Cristo a través de ti. El pueblo ucraniano y el pueblo ruso, que te veneran con amor, recurren a ti, mientras tu Corazón palpita por ellos y por todos los pueblos diezmados a causa de la guerra, el hambre, las injusticias y la miseria.

Por eso, Madre de Dios y nuestra, nosotros solemnemente encomendamos y consagramos a tu Corazón inmaculado nuestras personas, la Iglesia y la humanidad entera, de manera especial Rusia y Ucrania. Acoge este acto nuestro que realizamos con confianza y amor, haz que cese la guerra, provee al mundo de paz. El “sí” que brotó de tu corazón abrió las puertas de la historia al Príncipe de la paz; confiamos que, por medio de tu Corazón, la paz llegará. A ti, pues, te consagrás el futuro de toda la familia humana, las necesidades y las aspiraciones de los pueblos, las angustias y las esperanzas del mundo.
