Evangelization Office Announces Diocese’s Plans for World Meeting of Families

By Colleen Rowan
WEST VIRGINIA—The Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston’s Evangelization and Catechesis Office has announced Masses and events planned in West Virginia this summer to celebrate the World Meeting of Families.

Daniel Maul, director of the office, made the announcement earlier this week saying the diocese will celebrate Pope Francis’ call for meetings of families across the world, in all dioceses, with days of celebration from June 22-26.

“Each day will be celebrated with a Mass, a reception, and speakers who will present talks on the intersection of our Catholic faith and issues pertaining to marriage and family life: parenting, sexuality, divorce, and health,” Maul said in an e-mail to all parishes and priests.

The celebration begins in Charleston at the Basilica of the Co-Cathedral of the Sacred Heart with Bishop Mark Brennan presiding at Mass at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, June 22. Speakers and a reception will follow. On Thursday, June 23, the faithful will gather at St. Leo Parish in Inwood. Father Alfred Obiudu, pastor of St. Leo’s will preside at a 6 p.m. Mass, and speakers and a reception will again follow.

“Our parish feels honored and delighted to be one of the five hosting sites for our diocesan celebration of the ‘World Meeting of Families,’” Father Obiudu said. “A celebration which not only honors the fifth anniversary of Pope Francis’ World Marriage Day

Celebrating Marriage

World Marriage Day “honors husband and wife as the foundation of the family and salutes the beauty of faithfulness, sacrifice, and joy in daily married life.” These words were posted on the Facebook page of the Cathedral of St. Joseph in Wheeling for World Marriage Day. To celebrate, all married couples present at Masses the weekend of Feb. 12-13 received a special blessing. Father Sateesh Narisetti, HGN, J.C.L., vice rector of the cathedral, bestows the blessing upon the married couples at the 10:30 a.m. Mass Feb. 13, World Marriage Day.
2022 Lenten Liturgical Guidelines

Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston

Lent is a special season within the Church year that focuses on the two-fold theme of repentance and Baptism. We prepare ourselves to celebrate the Paschal Mystery of Christ. Lent begins with the celebration of Ash Wednesday, March 2, 2022, ends with the Evening Mass of the Lord’s Supper on Holy Thursday, April 14, 2022. Because COVID-19 is still present as well as other communicable illnesses (cold, influenza, etc.), core respiratory illness prevention strategies should continue. These include mask wearing, good hand hygiene, vaccination, and staying home when sick.

IMPORTANT GUIDELINES FOR ALL CATHOLICS

Fasting is to be observed on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday by everyone 18 years and older, who has not yet celebrated their 59th birthday. On a fast day, one full meal is allowed. Two other meals, enough to maintain strength, may be taken, according to each one’s needs, but together they should not equal another full meal. Eating between meals is not permitted, but consuming liquids, including milk and juices, is allowed. Abstinence is observed by everyone 14 years of age or older. On days of abstinence, no meat is allowed. Note that when health or the ability to work is affected, the law does not apply. Ash Wednesday, all the Fridays during Lent, and Good Friday are days of abstinence. If a person is unable to observe the above regulations due to ill health or other serious reasons, other suitable forms of self-denial are encouraged.

Catholic Schools from Wheeling to Weirton Will Gather for a Lenten Reflection at Cathedral

WHEELING—On Sunday, March 6, the Catholic Schools in the Upper Ohio Valley (from Wheeling to Weirton) will gather for a Lenten Reflection. This collaborative ministry will include choir members from each of the schools....one voice, on a journey together.

Readings, narratives, dramatic interpretations and opportunities for reflection will encourage those in attendance to pray and think about the importance of Lent as a time to transform minds and hearts.

This Lenten Reflection is open to all school families, parishioners, neighbors, friends and members of the community. It will be held at the Cathedral of St. Joseph in Wheeling.

“This is a beautiful way to journey through Lent and ignite the HOPE in our hearts for a Blessed Easter season. LORD, LET ME WALK.”

To read the bishop’s letter in full, see Pages 3 and 4 of the Feb. 4 issue of The Catholic Spirit in print or online at: thecatholicspiritwv.org/download/spirit_pdf/February-4-2022.pdf

The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops website notes that in place of the public worldwide gathering, the Vatican is strongly encouraging that all dioceses, with their local bishops, celebrate the World Meeting by gathering families for a customized, local experience of formation, prayer, and fellowship. Maul invited all to participate in the upcoming celebrations across West Virginia this summer.

“Please join us for any or all of these days of celebrating our faith, our marriages, and our families in the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston,” Maul said.

Pope, Cardinal Look at What Ails the Priesthood, Offer Antidotes

By Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Opening an international conference on priesthood, Pope Francis insisted that those who are not close to God in prayer, close to their bishop and other priests and immersed in the lives of their people are simply “clerical functionaries” or “professionals of the sacred.”

“A priest needs to have a heart sufficiently ‘enlarged’ to expand and embrace the pain of the people entrusted to his care while, at the same time, like a sentient being, able to proclaim the dawning of God’s grace revealed in that very pain,” the pope said Feb. 17 as he opened the conference in the Vatican audience hall.

With some 500 people attending in person and hundreds more online, the Feb. 17-19 symposium was organized by Canadian Cardinal Marc Ouellet, prefect of the Congregation for Bishops, and aimed at renewing a theological understanding of Catholic priesthood.

The cardinal told participants he understood how people could wonder about the purpose of such a conference given “the current historical context dominated by the drama of sexual abuse perpetrated by clerics.”

“Should we not rather refrain from talking about the priesthood when the sins and crimes of unworthy ministers are on the front pages of the international press for betraying their commitment or for shamefully covering up for those guilty of such depravity?” he asked.

“Shouldn’t we rather keep silent, repent and look for the causes of such misdeeds?”

A discussion of priesthood today, he said, must begin with expressing “our sincere regret and asking again for forgiveness from the victims, who suffer for their lives destroyed by abusive and priestly behavior, which has remained hidden for too long and treated lightly out of a desire to protect the institution and the perpetrators instead of the victims.”

But looking at the priesthood, including ways that it has been distorted by clericalism, could help the church truly turn a new page, Cardinal Ouellet said.

Clericalism, he said, involves a set of phenomena — abuse of power, spiritual abuse, abuses of conscience — of which sexual abuse is only the tip of the iceberg, visible and perversive, emerging from deeper deviances to be identified and unmasked.

A rediscovering of the priesthood of all believers, conferred through baptism, and its relationship to the ministerial priesthood must be the starting point, he said. Beginning there also provides a way to value the role of women in the church and the gifts that they bring.

In his talk to the conference, Pope Francis did not mention the abuse crisis specifically, but instead focused on what he said he has learned in more than 50 years of priesthood and from listening to and assisting priests as a Jesuit provincial, archbishop and pope.

“It may be that these reflections are the ‘swan song’ of my own priestly life,” the 85-year-old pope said, “but I can assure you that they are the fruit of my own experience.”

He insisted, as he often has told priests, that “closeness” is essential to their ministry and identity: closeness to God in prayer, closeness to their bishop or superior, closeness to other priests and, especially, closeness to the people of God.

Proximity, he said, allows the priest “to break all temptations of closure, self-justification and of living like a ‘bachelor.’”

Closeness in all four areas allows priests “to manage the tensions and imbalances that we experience daily,” the pope said. They are not “an extra assignment,” but “a gift” that the Lord gives “to keep the vocation alive and fruitful.”

Closeness to God and closeness to the people are intimately and intrinsically linked, he said, “since the prayer of a shepherd is nurtured and becomes incarnate in the heart of God’s people. When he prays, a pastor bears the marks of the sorrows and joys of his people, which he presents in silence to the Lord.”

At a time when many people experience a growing sense of being “orphaned,” Pope Francis said, a pastor who is close to his people knows how to gather them and form a community where people, including priests, grow in their sense of belonging.

“This sense of belonging will in turn prove an antidote to the distortion of vocation that happens whenever we forget that the priestly life is owed to others — to the Lord and to the persons he has entrusted to us,” he said. “Forgetting this is at the root of clericalism and its consequences.”

“Clericalism is a distortion because it is based not on closeness but on distance,” the pope said.

The church is and is meant to be a community of believers who help one another, share each other’s burdens, rejoice with each other and work together to proclaim the Gospel, he insisted.

Pope Francis cited the African proverb, “If you want to go fast, go alone; if you want to go far, go with others,” and told conference participants that while “sometimes it seems that the church is slow — and that is true — I like to think of it as the slowness of those who have chosen to walk in fraternity.”

Priests need to be “clear” and honest about how much envy exists within their ranks and how destructive it is, he said. “And there are also clerical forms of bullying.”

But “when priestly fraternity thrives and bonds of true friendship exist, it likewise becomes possible to experience with greater serenity the life of celibacy,” Pope Francis said. “Celibacy is a gift that the Latin church preserves, yet it is a gift that, to be lived as a means of sanctification, calls for healthy relationships, relationships of true esteem and true goodness that are deeply rooted in Christ.”

“Without friends and without prayer,” he said, “celibacy can become an unbearable burden and a counter-witness to the very beauty of the priesthood.”
Pope Restructures the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith

By Carol Glatz, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — As part of ongoing measures to reform the Roman Curia, Pope Francis has approved restructuring the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, the oldest of the congregations.

Once comprised of a doctrinal office, a discipline office and a marriage office, the new structure will see the doctrinal and discipline offices become their own special sections led by their own secretaries; the marriage office will become part of the doctrinal office.

The two secretaries will serve under the congregation’s prefect, Spanish Cardinal Luis Ladaria, who has been prefect of the congregation since 2017, will celebrate his 80th birthday April 19. The heads of Vatican offices are required to offer their resignations to the pope when they turn 75.

In “Fidem servare” (Preserving the Faith), published by the Vatican Feb. 15, the pope said the main task of the congregation has been to safeguard or “keep the faith.” The changes went into effect the same day. Over time, the congregation will examine documents to its areas of responsibilities and how it is configured, and now, Pope Francis said, further change is needed “to give it an approach more suited to the fulfillment of its functions.”

The doctrinal section will both examine matters concerning the “promotion and safeguarding of the doctrine of the faith and morals.” Its aim, the pope wrote, is to promote studies aimed at fostering “the knowledge and transmission of the faith in the service of evangelization, so that its light may be the criterion for understanding the meaning of existence, especially before questions posed by the progress of science and the development of society.”

When dealing with faith and morals, the doctrinal section will examine documents to be published by other dicasteries of the Roman Curia, “as well as writings and opinions that appear problematic for the correct faith, encouraging dialogue with their authors and proposing suitable remedies,” according to previously established norms. The section will also study any questions arising from personal ordinariates for Anglicans with questions involving full communion with the Catholic Church through the Apostolic Constitution, “Anglicanorum Coetibus.”

The doctrinal section will absorb the duties covered by the congregation’s marriage office, which deals with questions involving the validity of marriages when one of the spouses is not a baptized Christian.

The discipline section, through the currently existing discipline office, will handle those offenses and crimes reserved to the congregation — particularly clerical sexual abuse cases — and its supreme tribunal. It will prepare and elaborate procedures in accordance with canon law so as to “promote a correct administration of justice.”

To that end, the discipline section will promote needed formation initiatives that the congregation can offer to bishops, dioceses and canon lawyers “to promote a correct understanding and application of canonical norms.”

The congregation’s archive will continue to preserve documents for consultation, including its historical archive.

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith is the oldest of the congregations. It began in the 16th century as a commission of six cardinals, known as the Sacred Roman and Universal Inquisition, which served as a tribunal for judging suspected cases of heresy and schism.

Pope Francis also added a new paragraph to the canon dealing with consecrated virgins to make clear that a bishop may establish an association for consecrated virgins in his diocese and a bishops’ conference may do the same on the national level.

In addition, he gave religious superiors, when acting in consultation with their councils, broader authority for authorizing long absences from the community or for dismissing or accepting a request of a member with temporary vows to leave the community permanently.

Pope Amends Canons to Give Greater Authority to Bishops, Conferences

By Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Saying he wanted to promote “healthy decentralization” of some aspects of church life, Pope Francis made several changes to church law, granting greater authority to individual bishops, their conferences and synods of bishops of the Eastern Catholic churches.

The changes, the pope said, should “foster a sense of collegiality and the pastoral responsibility” of bishops and religious superiors who are closest to the matters being decided and therefore have a better understanding of what is appropriate.

Pope Francis’ amendments to both the Code of Canon Law of the Latin-rite church and the Code of Canons of the Eastern Churches were published by the Vatican Feb. 15, the day they were to go into effect.

The modifications, the pope said, “reflect even more the shared and plural universality of the church,” which includes many legitimate differences, but preserves its unity in communion with the pope.

At the same time, he wrote, the changes “encourage a more rapid efficacy of the pastoral action of government by the local authority, which is facilitated by its very proximity to the persons and situations which require it.”

For setting up an interdiocesan seminary, drafting a program for the formation of priests or publishing a national catechism, with the new law the bishop or bishops’ conferences involved simply need to obtain a “confirmation” from the Vatican and are no longer required to seek the “approval” of the Vatican.

In church law, “approval,” as opposed to “confirmation,” entails a greater commitment and involvement of the Roman Curia. “Therefore, it is evident that the shift from requiring ‘approval’ to requiring ‘confirmation’ is not only a terminological change, but a substantial one, which moves precisely in the direction of decentralization,” Bishop Marco Mellino, a member of the Pontifical Council for Legislative Texts, told Vatican News Feb. 15.

In another change, Pope Francis gave local bishops the authority to determine when there is “a just and necessary cause” for reducing the number of Masses to be said in fulfillment of a will or legacy left to the church. Previously such a decision was reserved to the Vatican.

Pope Francis also added a new paragraph to the canon dealing with consecrated virgins to make clear that a bishop may establish an association for consecrated virgins in his diocese and a bishops’ conference may do the same on the national level.

In addition, he gave religious superiors, when acting in consultation with their councils, broader authority for authorizing long absences from the community or for dismissing or accepting a request of a member with temporary vows to leave the community permanently.

Love, Protect the Church Despite Its Faults, Pope Says

By Junno Arocho Esteves, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — The same love that gave St. Joseph the strength to protect Jesus and Mary must inspire Christians to love the church, especially when calling out its sins and flaws, Pope Francis said.

Love “makes us capable of speaking the truth fully in a nonpartisan way; of saying what is wrong but also of recognizing all the goodness and holiness that are present,” the pope said Feb. 16 during his weekly general audience.

“Nowadays it is common, it is an everyday occurrence, to criticize the church, to point out its inconsistencies — and there are many — to point out its sins, which in reality are our inconsistencies, our sins, because the church has always been a people of sinners who encounter God’s mercy,” the pope said. “Let us ask ourselves if, in our hearts, we love the church.”

Reflecting on St. Joseph as the patron of the universal church, the pope said he was concluding his series of audience talks about the foster father of Jesus.

The Gospel stories involving St. Joseph note that he takes Jesus and Mary with him and obeys God’s commands, thus highlighting his role as their protector, the pope said.

Departing from his prepared remarks, he added that “a very beautiful aspect of the Christian vocation” is protecting life and “protecting human development.”

“The Christian is — we may say — like St. Joseph: he or she must protect,” he said. “To be a Christian is not only about receiving the faith, confessing the faith, but protecting life, one’s own life, the life of others, the life of the church.”

Christians, he continued, “must always ask ourselves whether we are protecting with all our strength Jesus and Mary, who are mysteriously entrusted to our responsibility, our care, our custody.”

St. Joseph, “in continuing to protect the church, continues to protect the child and his mother, and we too, in loving the church, continue to love the child and his mother,” he said.

Loving the church, he added, means protecting and walking with all its members.

“The church is not that small group that is close to the priest and bosses everyone around; no. We all are the church, all of us,” he said.

“This is a good question: when I have a problem with someone, do I try to protect them or do I immediately condemn them, speak ill of them, destroy them? We must protect, always protect!”

Pope Francis encouraged Christians to seek St. Joseph’s intercession, especially in “the most difficult times in your life and the life of your communities.”

“Where our mistakes become a scandal, let us ask St. Joseph to give us the courage to speak the truth, ask for forgiveness and humbly begin again. Where persecution prevents the Gospel from being proclaimed, let us ask St. Joseph for the strength and patience to endure abuse and suffering for the sake of the Gospel,” the pope said.

St. Joseph’s intercession, he added, is also a source of comfort for the poor and the suffering and an encouragement for those “who serve the least, the defenseless, the sick, the rejected of society.”

“How many saints have turned to him! How many people in the history of the church have found in him a patron, a guardian, a father!” the pope said.

Erin Sikora Reflects on 16 Years as Principal of St. Francis of Assisi School in St. Albans

By Colleen Rowan

ger 16 years as principal of St. Francis of Assisi School in St. Albans, Erin Sikora has announced her retirement. Remembering fondly her time at the school, she shared that she has been part of SFS since 1992 when her family moved to St. Albans.

“In the 90s I volunteered as a librarian, on hot dog days, as a tutor, and was the PTO treasurer,” Sikora said. “All three of my children attended the school.”

In 2006, Father Patrick McDonough, pastor of the school and St. Francis of Assisi Parish in St. Albans, invited her to take on the role of principal.

“I felt like I was home,” Sikora recalled. “I threw myself into the administration of the school and loved every minute.”

When she began as principal, the school had 114 students. Sixteen years later, SFS averages 170 students.

“The school grew because of the outstanding faculty and staff, state of the art technology, use of current teaching methods, adding two county preschool classes, and third party funding,” she said. “The students and families love the Christian family atmosphere and the caring, faculty and staff. The school is a treasure!”

SFS’s Office Manager and Advancement Director Kelly Oxley began working with Sikora 12 years ago and now considers her a close friend. Sikora has taught her a lot, Oxley said, most importantly lessons that are unforgettable. Oxley will also not forget the example that her friend has shown as principal “who has fully devoted herself to the families and children of St. Francis of Assisi over the years, inside and outside of the school.”

“She puts in countless hours that are not accounted for to make sure things go as planned,” Oxley said. “I will miss not seeing her with a paintbrush in her hand touching up areas throughout the building days and nights before the first day of school. I love the gentle way that she deals with the children. She’s the best at getting to the bottom of a situation with a fair solution. I will be forever grateful for the years that we have spent together. I wish her the best on her new traveling adventure with her husband and family. I will miss her dearly.”

Sikora will retire at the end of this school year, and when that time comes it will be the students that she will have a hard time saying goodbye to.

“I will miss seeing the children,” she said, “listening to their imaginative stories, and especially greeting them each morning as they enter the school. Children are so innocent and honest and speak from the heart; they often make me laugh. I will miss a first grader who gives me a daily post-it note of encouragement. She writes me messages, such as ‘Good job, Mrs. Sikora’ at the end of each day.”

She continued saying she will also miss her wonderful colleagues and friends.

“Mrs. Kelly Oxley and Father Pat are the administration team whom I have had the pleasure to work with closely and I will miss them dearly,” she said.

Adult Catechesis Now Available For All at St. Stephen’s in Ona

ONA—At the suggestion of Father George, pastor of St. Stephen Parish in Ona, bi-monthly Adult Catechesis “Faith Refresher” session began Feb. 6 facilitated by John Patrick Grace. The sessions will correspond to time allotted for the G.I.F.T. children’s catechesis and are being held primarily to benefit parents of the G.I.F.T. children. The Adult sessions will focus on the essentials of the Catholic faith—the three creeds we use (Apostles, Nicene, Athanasian), the formation of the early church, the canon of scripture, the scriptural bases for the seven sacraments, precepts of the church, corporal and spiritual works of mercy, and more. Methods: handouts with outlines, and discussion. More info: Patrick Grace publishersplace@gmail.com or (304) 617-1292.

Catholic Charities Volunteers Provide Free Tax Preparation for Low-Income Families

By Trina Bartlett, CCWVa Eastern Regional Director

The Catholic Charities West Virginia Martinsburg office is once again offering the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program for low- and moderate-income taxpayers. Certified Catholic Charities volunteers must pass several tests before they can prepare and file taxes.

While taking tests and doing taxes might not be what some people think about when they consider volunteering, our VITA volunteers keep coming back to help year after year. When asked why, here is how some responded:

“Most people find taxes a daunting challenge. In addition, if they are in the lower income brackets, they do not have the funds to afford a professional tax preparer. In the Gospels, Jesus tells us to help those in need. Since I understand the tax return process, this is a small way in which I can comply with the Gospel and help fellow citizens with this process.” - Mike Conk, 6-year VITA Volunteer

“I volunteer because it’s my turn to help. I used VITA many years ago while in the military and was so grateful for the assistance I received; now it’s time for me to return the favor.” - Jill Creigh, 7-year VITA Volunteer

“As a retired economist, one thing I know is that tax policy is also social policy. By helping the low- and moderate-income community navigate a complex system to access their rightful tax benefits, we are doing good work.” - Jeff Hornbeck, 2-year VITA Volunteer

“As an IRS employee, I’ve always been interested in becoming a volunteer. I have wanted to use my tax knowledge and learn more about my own tax benefits, to make a difference in the community at the same time.” - Tim Beachley, 2-year VITA Volunteer

“Being a VITA Volunteer is very satisfying because it provides me a technical challenge to apply the Federal and State tax codes in a constructive manner to get working families the maximum benefits that they are allowed under the laws.” - Jim Dyer, 6-year VITA Volunteer

These volunteers help with taxes from February through the first week of April. For more information about the VITA program at the Martinsburg office, contact Eastern Regional Director Trina Bartlett at (304) 267-8837, ext. 8, or tbartlett@ccwva.org.

Papa: Amen y custodien a la iglesia aun con sus incoherencias

Por Junno Arocho Esteves, Catholic News Service

CIUDAD DEL VATICANO (CNS) — El mismo amor que le dio a San José, la fuerza para proteger a Jesús y María, debe inspirar a los cristianos a amar a la iglesia, especialmente cuando denuncian sus pecados y defectos, dijo el papa Francisco.

El amor "nos hace capaces de decir plena-mente la verdad, de forma no parcial; de decir lo que está mal, pero también de reconocer todo el bien y la santidad que están presentes", dijo el papa el 16 de febrero durante su audiencia general.

"Hoy es común, es de todos los días criticar a la Iglesia, subrayar las incoherencias —hay mu-chas—, subrayar los pecados, que en realidad son nuestras incoherencias, nuestros pecados, porque desde siempre la Iglesia es un pueblo de pecadores que encuentran en la misericordia de Dios", dijo el papa. "Pregúntémonos si, en el fondo del corazón, nosotros amamos a la Iglesia así como es".

Reflexionando sobre San José como patrono de la iglesia universal, el papa dijo que estaba concluyendo su serie de charlas de audiencia sobre la iglesia de los pobres, donde destacó la importancia de la misericordia y de oír las voces de la periferia.

"San José dicen que lleva a Jesús y María con él y la intercesión de San José, añadió, es tam-bién fuente de consuelo para los pobres y los que sufren y de aliento para los que 'sirven a los más pequeños, a los indefensos, a los huérfanos, a los enfermos, a los rechazados de la so-ciedad'.

"¡Cuántos santos se han vuelto a él! ¡Cuántas personas en la historia de la iglesia han encon-trado en él un patrón, un guardián, un padre!' dijo el papa.
