Adore Jesus’ Real Presence in the Eucharist, Pope Tells U.S. Catholics

By Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Catholics need to recover a sense of awe and adoration before the Eucharist, knowing that it is “the real and loving presence of the Lord,” Pope Francis told members of the committees organizing the National Eucharistic Revival and the National Eucharistic Congress in the United States.

Jesus spoke of himself as “the living bread which came down from heaven, the true bread that gives life to the world,” the pope told the group June 19, just three days after leaving the hospital following abdominal surgery.

“This morning, while I was celebrating the Eucharist, I thought about this a lot because it is what gives us life,” the pope said. “Indeed, the Eucharist is God’s response to the deepest hunger of the human heart, the hunger for authentic life because in the Eucharist Christ himself is truly in our midst to nourish, console and sustain us on our journey.”

Bishop Brennan and Religious Leaders Join in a Service of Remembrance and Repentance on Juneteenth

By Martina Hart

CHARLESTON — Bishop Mark Brennan, clergy and laity of local Catholic parishes joined religious leaders of various denominations and over 80 people at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church in Charleston on Juneteenth, June 19, for a Service of Remembrance and Repentance for those lynched in West Virginia.

The event had been organized by the Dismantling Racism Task Force of the West Virginia Council of Churches (WVCC), of which Bishop Brennan is a member. It was planned to be held on the steps of the State Capitol but due to steady rain that evening was moved indoors a couple blocks down Kanawha Boulevard.

In his remarks at the gathering, Bishop Brennan recalled growing up in southern Maryland where he experienced racial segregation in various forms.

“We must remember all these things,” he said, “but we also must be committed to doing what we can to overcome that legacy.”

He remembered his father who served in the U.S. Navy planning the annual picnic for his naval unit which included African American servicemen. When told...
Synod Document Asks How to Increase Unity, Participation, Mission Outreach

By Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — In a church that “bears the signs of serious crises of mistrust and lack of credibility,” members of the assembly of the Synod of Bishops will be asked in keep four steps to build community, encourage the contribution of every baptized person and strengthen the church’s primacy of mission of sharing the Gospel, said the working document for the October gathering.

“A synodal church is founded on the recognition of a common dignity deriving from baptism, which makes all who receive it sons and daughters of God, members of the family of God, and therefore brothers and sisters in Christ, inhabited by the one Spirit and sent to fulfill a common mission,” said the document, which was released at the Vatican June 20.

However, it said, many Catholics around the world report that too many baptized persons — particularly LGBTQ+ Catholics, the divorced and civil remarried, the poor, women and people with disabilities — are excluded from active participation in the life of the church and, particularly, from its decision-making structures.

The working document for the Synod of Bishops will be held in October 2024. Even then, resolving every issue represented in its listening sessions is unlikely, the document said. But “characteristic of a synodal church is the ability to manage tensions without being crushed by them.”

The working document includes worksheets with questions “for discernment” that synod members will be asked to read and pray with before arriving in Rome.

One of them asks, “What concrete steps can the church see ‘synod’ on Page 3?”

The first synod assembly, scheduled for Oct. 4-29, “will have the task of discerning the concrete steps which enable the continued growth of a synodal church, steps that it will then submit to the Holy Father,” the document said. Some questions, perhaps of many of them, will require further discernment and study with the help of theologians and canon lawyers, which is why a second assembly of the synod will be held in October 2024.

Pope Francis walked into the library using his cane instead of a wheelchair. And although he sat when he read his prepared text — and added spontaneous comments — he stood to bless the four-foot-tall monstrance, paten and chalice that would be used during the eucharistic congress in Indianapolis July 17-21, 2024.

The group was led by Bishop Andrew H. Cozzens of Crookston, Minnesota, chair of the U.S. bishops’ advisory group for the National Eucharistic Revival, a multi-year process aimed at renewing and strengthening faith in the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist, and chair of the board of directors planning the eucharistic congress.

Bishop Cozzens told Catholic News Service it was “an incredible privilege” to meet the pope and experience “his love, his passion for the Eucharist and for the work that we’re about.”

Pope Francis told the group that, unfortunately, today many Catholics “believe that the Eucharist is more a symbol than the reality of the Lord’s presence and love.”

But, he said, “it is more than a symbol; it is the real and loving presence of the Lord.”

“It is my hope, then, that the eucharistic congress will inspire Catholics throughout the country to recover anew the sense of wonder and awe at the Lord’s great gift of himself,” he said. “And we become credible witnesses to the joy and transforming beauty of the Gospel only when we recognize that the love we celebrate in this sacrament cannot be kept to ourselves but demands to be shared with all.”

“This is the sense of mission: You go, you celebrate Mass, you take Communion, you go to adoration — and afterward?” he asked. “Aft er exploration you go out, you go out and evangelize; Jesus makes us this way.”

“The Eucharist impels us to a strong and committed love of neighbor,” he insisted. “For we cannot truly understand or live the meaning of the Eucharist if our hearts are closed to our brothers and sisters, especially those who are poor, suffering, weary or may have gone astray in life.”

Speaking off the cuff, the pope said those who believe in the Eucharist must reach out to and visit “the elderly, who are the wisdom of a people, and the sick, who take the form of the suffering Jesus.”

Pope Francis prayed that the National Eucharistic Congress would “bear fruit in guiding men and women throughout your nation to the Lord who, by his presence among us, rekindles hope and new life.”

In an interview with CNS following the papal audience, Bishop Cozzens said the ongoing process of the Synod of Bishops on synodality and the eucharistic revival are related since, in the listening sessions for the synod, many Catholics expressed concern about a lack of belief in the real presence and about declining Mass attendance.

“We’re probably at an all-time low in the United States in terms of the percentage of Catholics who are actually going to Mass every Sunday,” he said, which is “a huge concern that came forward in the synod process.”

The listening sessions also pleaded with the bishops to work for the unity of the church in the country and draw everyone together around the sacrament of unity, and communion is the best way to do that, he said. “So, I would argue that the synodal process helped us build the whole thing.”

“The Eucharist is the source of our life in the church,” the bishop said. “It’s the beating heart of the church where we receive the life of Christ as the body of Christ.”

take to renew and reform its procedures, institutional arrangements and structures to enable greater recognition and participation of women, including in governance, decision-making processes and in the taking of decisions, in a spirit of communion and with a view to mission?”

“Most of the continental assemblies and the syntheses of several episcopal conferences,” it said, “call for the question of women’s inclusion in the diocese to be considered. Is it possible to envisage this, and in what way?”

As the synod process has taken place, questions have been raised about how the church wishes to participate in the life of the church and the call to conversion, the document said, which raises “the question of whether there are limits to our willingness to welcome people and groups, how to engage in dialogue with cultures and religions without compromising our identity, and our determination to be the voice of those on the margins and reaffirm that no one should be left behind.”

Another tension highlighted in the preliminary document is that shared responsibility in a church that believes its hierarchical structure is willed by Christ and is a gift.

The working document reported a “strong awareness that all authority in the church proceeds from Christ and is guided by the Holy Spirit. A diversity of charisms without authority becomes anarchy, just as the rigor of authority with-that the location was a "whites only beach" he responded that the day of the picnic would be "racially integrated" because every member of his unit would attend. Years later, in 1974, then Father Mark Brennan was in a parish in the same area where he would train the first African American altar boy in the parish founded in 1700.

"We can do things to change individually and collectively the legacy of racism," Bishop Brennan concluded.

Having been celebrated by Black communities for decades, Juneteenth has gained national and cultural prominence only in the recent past, and in 2021 the Juneteenth National Independence Day Act was signed into law, marking June 19 as a federal holiday.

At the service, Bishop Sandra Wingate, president of the WVCC, recalled historic events surrounding the holiday. "Juneteenth marks the day in 1865 when U.S. federal troops arrived in Galveston, Texas, to take control of the state and to ensure all African Americans were freed," she said. "The troops arrived there ... two and a half years after the emancipation proclamation had been signed, and today we still continue to work towards freedom of all people."

"Our call is to take up the good news of liberation for all people in this world, and yet systemic racism in church and society continues," she said, listing events in the past few years such as murders of Black and Brown people and a dramatic rise in hate crimes against other ethnic and religious groups.

She suggested to listen and read in order to gain greater awareness, to learn more about the realities African Americans face and the contributions they make to society.

Rev. Ronald English, president of the NAACP, Charleston Branch, called it the "most preferred holiday that authentically deals with the experience of African Americans."

"July Fourth is around the corner, but Juneteenth is in the path of July Fourth," he said, adding that it marks one of the two holidays, besides Martin Luther King Jr. Day, "where we celebrate the experience of African Americans, particularly in terms of those who plotted a path to freedom."

"The preaching of the gospel of Juneteenth deals us a reason that cannot be compromised in terms of telling the authentic story of the African American presence in this country and the reason to rejoice," Rev. English continued. "It helps us to reveal the authentic roots of an American holiday that comes from the dark side of American history. So, we have come to this place at this time to say thanks be to God and thanks to the spirit of the elders that have helped us ... to keep hope alive."

During the service, clergy and lay people took turns in reading the names of the 48 persons who had been lynched in the area now comprising West Virginia between 1808 and 2001. Reading some of the names were Very Rev. Donald X. Higgs, V.F., rector of the Basilica of the Sacred Heart in Charleston; Deacon Raymond Godwin, ecumenical officer in the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston's Ecumenism Office who is also a permanent deacon at the parishes of St. Brendan's in Elkins and St. Anne's in Webster Springs and St. Patrick Mission in Coalton; and Sister Rose Ann Hefner, CSJ, of the Congregation of St. Joseph Sisters in Wheeling.

Together the congregation recited prayers of repentance for the sin of racism and of commitment, as members of different faith communities, to stand up against all forms of racism and contribute to reconciliation.

The program was interspersed by the singing of African American spirituals and freedom songs. As part of their Theological Statement, the WVCC Dismantling Racism Task force emphasized that all people are created in the image of God and that Jesus taught to love our neighbor as ourselves.

"As part of our repentance we acknowledge the history of lynching in West Virginia, our too often failure to speak out, the need to remember and lift up the names of those persons so brutally murdered, and the suffering of their families," they stated.

Plans are underway for a permanent memorial on the grounds of the West Virginia State Capitol.
Pope Declares ‘Venerable’ Mother Lange and Fátima Visionary

By Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Recognizing they lived the Christian virtues in a heroic way, Pope Francis has declared venerable Mother Mary Elizabeth Lange, founder of the first Catholic order of African American nuns, and Sister Lúcia dos Santos, who, with her cousins, reported seeing Mary when she was a child in Fátima, Portugal.

The pope signed the decrees recognizing their heroic virtues June 22. A miracle attributed to their intercession is still necessary before they can be beatified.

Meeting with Cardinal Marcello Semeraro, prefect of the Dicastery for the Causes of Saints, Pope Francis also recognized the martyrdom of Father Manuel González-Serna Rodríguez and 19 other diocesan priests, laymen and laywomen killed in 1939 during the Spanish Civil War. The recognition of martyrdom clears the way for their beatification without a miracle.

Mother Lange, who was born in Cuba to Haitian parents, came to the United States around 1813, settling near Baltimore, and saw how the children of other immigrants needed education.

“She was determined to respond to that need in spite of being a black woman in a slave state long before the Emancipation Proclamation,” according to the official website of her saint cause. “She used her own money and home to educate children of color.”

With the encouragement and support of a priest and Archbishop James Whitfield of Baltimore, she and three other women made promises of poverty, chastity and obedience in 1829, founding the Oblate Sisters of Providence, an order that continues today. Mother Lange died in 1882.

The other notable decree of heroic virtues involved a religious sister who died much more recently. Sister Lúcia dos Santos died in Coimbra, Portugal, in 2005 at the age of 97. Pope Francis canonized her cousins, Francisco Marto and Jacinta Marto, in 2017.

Sister Lúcia was 10 years old when she and her cousins first saw Mary at Fátima on May 13, 1917.

But her sainthood cause examined her entire life and the huge volumes of correspondence she wrote as a cloistered Carmelite nun.

Much of that correspondence involved her attempts to clarify what became known as the “secrets” of Fatima, which Sister Lúcia made known. In the 1930s, she shared the first two parts. They included a vision of hell shown to the children, along with prophecies concerning the outbreak of World War II, the rise of communism and the ultimate triumph of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, especially in Russia if the country was consecrated to her Immaculate Heart.

Sister Lúcia wrote down the third part of the message, sealed it in an envelope and gave it to her local bishop. The message was sent to the Vatican in 1957, where successive popes read it, but decided not to reveal its contents.

St. John Paul II ordered the so-called “third secret” of Fatima to be published in 2000; he believed the secret, actually a vision, referred to the 20th-century persecution of the church under Nazism and communism and spoke of the 1981 attempt to assassinate him. The pope was shot May 13, 1981, the anniversary of the first of the Fatima apparitions.

At Assembly, U.S. Bishops Advance Pastoral Initiatives to Strengthen Church amid Discussions on Eucharist, Priesthood, Synodality

By Peter Jesserer Smith, Kate Scanlon OSV News

ORLANDO, Fla. (OSV News) — Meeting in Orlando for their spring assembly, the U.S. bishops moved ahead on some efforts to advance the church’s mission in the U.S., including new pastoral initiatives aimed at activating Catholics as missionary disciples. The gathering’s June 15-16 plenary sessions were focused on prayer and Eucharist, with the bishops’ vice president, Archbishop Pierbattista Pizzaballa of the U.S. Archdiocese for the Military Services, offering remarks. Among the agenda items were the second edition of the “Basic Plan for the Ongoing Formation of Priests,” approved by the U.S. bishops on the progress of the National Eucharistic Revival, and the bishops’ spring plenary assembly in Orlando.

Bishops approved the National Pastoral Plan for Hispanic Latino Ministry with 167 in favor and 2 against and 2 abstentions. The 62-page plan seeks to respond to the needs of about 30 million Hispanic/Latino Catholics in the U.S. and strengthen Hispanic/Latino ministries at the national, local and parish levels.

Ahead of the vote, Bishop Oscar Cantú of San Jose, California, chairman of the bishops’ Subcommittee on Hispanic Affairs, told OSV News there was a great need to “get moving so that (the new pastoral plan) can be implemented in our dioceses and parishes.”

The bishops approved the National Pastoral Plan for Hispanic Latino Ministry with 167 in favor and 2 against and 2 abstentions. The 62-page plan seeks to respond to the needs of about 30 million Hispanic/Latino Catholics in the U.S. and strengthen Hispanic/Latino ministries at the national, local and parish levels.

A day before the vote took place, Detroit Auxiliary Bishop J. Arturo Cepeda, who chairs the USCCB’s Committee on Cultural Diversity in the Church, called the plan a sign of the times that recognizes Hispanic/Latino Catholics — as “missionaries among us” — that can reinvigorate the life of the church.

The most contentious discussion took place regarding the proposed second edition of the “Basic Plan for the Ongoing Formation of Priests.” Some bishops took to the floor to object they had not had time to read the document, or that it was so lengthy priests would likely not read it and dismiss its contents.

Other bishops expressed concern that the discussion on “spiritual fatherhood” was “actually a term that is more familiar and clear for those who are younger in the priesthood.” Ultimately, the bishops approved the formation document with 144 voting in favor, 24 against, and 8 abstentions.

The discussion and vote on priorities for the 2025-28 USCCB strategic plan were put on hold so that the bishops could reflect upon and, presumably, include some of the discussion from the synod conversations.

In a voice vote, the bishops approved beginning the process of consultation and revision of ethical directives for Catholic health care facilities to guide them in caring for people suffering from gender dysphoria and who identify as transgender.

Bishop Flores said potential changes would be “limited and very focused” in nature, and involve extensive consultation. He praised the calls from bishops on the floor for a “pastorally sensitive” approach to the complex topic.

The U.S. bishops also voiced approval for the Committee on Laity, Marriage, Family Life and Youth to move ahead on drafting a new pastoral statement for persons with disabilities.

“We do believe a new statement is needed to address disability concerns in the 21st century,” Bishop Robert E. Barron of Winona-Rochester, Minnesota, the committee’s chair, told the bishops June 16. The intended statement aims to emphasize the giftedness of persons with disabilities, eliminate outdated forms of referring to persons with disabilities, and would be inclusive of persons who have mental illnesses.

During the discussion, Cardinal Seán P. O’Malley of Boston joined Bishop John T. Folda of Fargo, North Dakota, in noting the importance of Catholics being allied with the disability community against assisted suicide, and the cardinal asked for more attention to support parents of children with autism.

The bishops also heard an update on the upcoming World Youth Day in Lisbon, Portugal, and were encouraged to have their own statewide events for youth and young adults “to form them as missionary disciples.”

Finally, just before the bishops concluded their assembly, Bishop Earl A. Boyea of Lansing, Michigan, chair of the bishops’ Committee on Clergy, Consecrated Life and Vocations, discussed The Catholic Project’s 2022 study of 10,000 Catholic religious and diocesan priests that found most priests distrust their bishops with only 24% saying they had confidence in bishops in general.

Bishop Boyea encouraged the bishops to help priests “feel kinship and fraternity with us” through better personal communication, such as recognizing important moments in their lives, and better lines of communicating information to them.

“This is not the completion, but a beginning, to heal our relationship,” he said of the report.

At the conclusion of their assembly, recognizing it was the Solemnity of the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus, the bishops prayed together the Litany of the Sacred Heart, invoking Jesus’ heart repeatedly to “have mercy on us.”

How Your Donation to the Catholic Campaign for Human Development Makes a Difference

Annual Collection is July 15-16 at Masses in the Diocese

The parishes and missions of the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston will hold the annual collection for the Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD) at Masses July 15-16. The CCHD is the national anti-poverty and social justice program of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB). The CCHD was begun in 1969 as the “national Catholic Crusade Against Poverty” as a response to Pope Paul VI’s encyclical “The Progress of Peoples”.

The mission of CCHD is to address the root causes of poverty in America through promotion and support of community-controlled self-help organizations and through transformative social justice, education, and solidarity between poor and non-poor. The Catholic Campaign for Human Development is dedicated to breaking the cycle of poverty by funding community programs that encourage independence. Parishioners from every parish within the state of West Virginia are essential to its success. YOU are essential to its success. Your generous donations will give those in poverty the support they need to make lasting changes.

In the light of the Catholic Church’s moral and social teachings and traditions, CCHD asks organizations requesting funding to understand and adhere to basic principles which are central to the Catholic mission. CCHD asks those responsible for seeking and managing funds from CCHD to carefully understand that they must be in full compliance with the seven principles of Catholic Social Teaching. They are: Life and Dignity of the Human Person; Call to Family, Community, and Participation; Rights and Responsibilities; Option for the Poor and Vulnerable; the Dignity of Work and the Rights of Workers; Solidarity; and Care for God’s Creation.

Hirarchy within West Virginia, for CCHD is USCCB, Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston, Catholic, Charities West Virginia, local parish.

The CCHD grant, awarded annually through the DWC, has a foundation based on: 1. Sustainability...continuity in the availability of opportunities. 2. Productivity...human labor productivity based on human work. 3. Empowerment...to have the power to make choices. CCHD works to break the cycle of poverty by helping low-income people participate in decisions that affect their lives, families and communities.

YOU and your contribution, are elemental to making lasting and meaningful change within the lives of those lacking hope and living in poverty.

Grants funded are all West Virginia based and authorized by Bishop Mark Brennan and governed by Catholic Charities West Virginia.

Your donation...helps to provide a “hand up”, not a “hand out”.

Thank you for your continued support of Catholic Charities West Virginia and the Catholic Campaign for Human Development as we continue to serve the people in West Virginia that are most in need of compassion and assistance. Thank you for your prayers, time and support.

Catholic Charities West Virginia and the Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD) has been working for social change across the United States for over 53 years. Created by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, CCHD works with a two-pronged approach. One arm educates Americans about the realities of poverty. The other arm confronts the unique challenges of those living in poverty by funding community and economic development projects. These organizations work in innovative ways to build self-reliance and power for those in poverty.

In West Virginia for 2022, CCHD funded:

HOH Share and Grow Ohio Valley

HOH Share empowers those who are most vulnerable, the homeless and poor, with a proactive approach to community organizing. Grow Ohio Valley sees sustainable agriculture as an economic driver for West Virginia.

In the past five years, organizations in the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston have been granted more than $455,000 to do the good work of CCHD.

The annual collection for CCHD is July 15 and 16, 2023. Your support for this collection makes a difference for West Virginians living in poverty and those across the United States.

Catholic Men of West Virginia, Married or Single, Consider the Vocation of a Deacon

Deacons are ordained to a ministry of service, assisting the bishop and his priests in many areas, especially in the ministry of the liturgy, of the word, and of charity.

The Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston opened a new Diaconate Formation Program for all Catholic men who will be 35 by June of 2027. Bishop Mark Brennan has made the 2023-2028 Diaconate Formation Program free to the men who apply, and the cost will be covered by the diocese.

Permanent deacons may be married. They must be faithful Catholics. Most work at secular jobs and must be willing to be open to an assignment outside of their parish.

"Juneteenth is a powerful reminder of the enduring pursuit of justice," said Mark Phillips, CCWVa president and chief executive officer. "CCWVa recognizes the imperative to foster a society where every individual is respected, empowered, and uplifted, and we stand with the Black community in striving to create a world where freedom and equality flourish for all."

CCWVa Case Manager Joe Sparksman is president of the group Men of Change in Wheeling. Men of Change’s mission is to empower, uplift and educate the community while serving as positive role models and a support system for young Black men. Sparksman suggested the Neighborhood Center host a breakfast to kick off the June celebration in the Wheeling area.

"Juneteenth is an opportunity to celebrate the time when slaves were finally freed – years after the Emancipation Proclamation," said Sparksman. "It’s important to acknowledge the true history of Black Americans."

Donations from the breakfast supported the local Underground Railroad Museum.

"While Juneteenth is a celebration of emancipation and Black culture, this day also calls us to recognize the ongoing effects of systemic racism," said Phillips. "Black West Virginians are almost twice as likely to be living in poverty in West Virginia, and disparities persist in education, wages, health, and throughout the criminal legal system. Catholic Charities continues to be committed to compassion and justice for the Black community."

Sister Gertrude Foley, SC, age 91, was called by God to eternal life on June 16, 2023 at Caritas Christi, the Motherhouse of the Sisters of Charity, Greensburg, Pa., in the 73rd year of her commitment to religious life. Born on March 18, 1932, Sister Gertrude was one of eight children. She was preceded in death by her parents Joseph V. and Stella (Blitzko) Foley; two brothers, Joseph and Thomas; and five sisters, Joanne Foley, Mary Ann Meredith, Eileen Creighton, Margaret Brosmahan, and Rosemary Blashford. She is survived by nieces, nephews and her religious community.

A Pittsburgh native, Sister Gertrude entered the congregation of the Sisters of Charity in 1950 from Saint Mary of the Mount Parish, on Mount Washington in Pittsburgh. She earned a bachelor's degree in classics from Seton Hill University, a master's degree in classics from Duquesne University, a master's degree in theology from Fordham University, and a doctorate of ministry in theology from Aquinas Institute of Theology, Dubuque, Iowa.

For 15 years, Sister Gertrude taught in classrooms at every level, as well as religious education for adults and children. For four years, she was chairperson of the Teacher Enrichment Conference in the Diocese of Pittsburgh. Sister Gertrude held a position at the College of Saint Catherine, St. Paul, Minn., where she established and directed a certificate program in pastoral and theological education within the theology department.

While serving as Regional Superior in Arizona, Sister Gertrude accepted a position within the Diocese of Phoenix at the Kino Institute's School of Ministry. The program prepared lay women and men for leadership roles in church ministry. She directed the program for five years, while also in church ministry. She directed the women and men for leadership roles in church ministry. The program prepared lay women and men for leadership roles in church ministry. She directed the formation of newer members but also on-going formation, retirement and retreat committees that engaged a great many of the sisters in participatory leadership for the life of the community. She was elected to the office of major superior/president of the Sisters of Charity for two terms (1993-2002) and oversaw the construction of Caritas Christi, the motherhouse of the Sisters of Charity.

Sister Gertrude ministered in the Diocese of Greensburg as executive director of the Department of Education and Spiritual Formation. She co-authored Shaping the Coming Age of Religious Life (Seabury Press). She served in the national office of the Leadership Conference of Women Religious (LCWR) and as chairperson of LCWR Region IV. She was a member of the International Union of Superiors General and served on the program advisory committee for the Center for Religious Life in Chicago. She served on the religious leadership executive committee in the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston, the Pittsburgh Synod, and the Westmoreland County Unity Coalition in Greensburg. Sister Gertrude ministered as a facilitator-consultant to religious communities throughout the United States, Canada, South Africa, England, Ireland and Australia.

Sister Gertrude received an honorary doctorate degree in 2002 from Seton Hill University for leading by example and representing the pioneering spirit of the founders of the university, the Sisters of Charity. She received The Distinguished Alumni Engineering Award as an outstanding alumnus for her achievements, contributions to her profession, service to community, and loyalty to Seton Hill University.

In 2006, after fifty-six years in active ministry, Sister Gertrude thought it was time to slow down, but felt she still had energy to minister to the Catholic Church and its people. She became co-coordinator of Seton Family, a program designed by the Sisters of Charity in 2001, which focused on strengthening lay women and men to reclaim their essential role in the Church of the 21st century. She also was the course designer and facilitator for the Virtual Learning Community for Faith Formation at the University of Dayton, a “new way of being Church.”

Sister Gertrude was the recipient of the Daughters of Charity, Seton Legacy of Charity Award, Emmitsburg, Md., in 2009 presented to those who have mirrored the example of Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton’s pioneering spirit through their ministries. She was acknowledged for her leadership and scholarship by the Sisters of Charity Federation for her retreats and lectures in the tradition, spirit and charism of the founders.

Sister Gertrude retired from active ministry in 2021. She received exceptional support and care from the nursing staff and employees at Caritas Christi to whom the Sisters of Charity are grateful.

At the time of her golden jubilee in 2000, Sister Gertrude reflected on her life as a Sister of Charity. “My life has taught me that ‘being a sister’ is not a state but a process. God is faithful and God’s plans are mysterious and amazing. ‘Being a sister’ requires a lifetime of ‘yeses’ to God revealed in the humdrum and the ordinary, the challenging and the unexpected. ‘Being a sister’ has surpassed anything I could have hoped for in my life. I have not regretted a single moment!”

Rest in peace, Sister Gertrude, as your loving and faithful God welcomes you home to be with the Company of Charity.

Adoren la presencia real de Jesús en la Eucaristía, dice el Papa a los católicos de EE.UU.

Por Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service

CIUDAD DEL VATICANO (CNS) — Los católicos necesitan recuperar el sentido de asombro y adoración ante la Eucaristía, siendo que es “la presencia real y amorosa del Señor”, dijo el Papa Francisco a los miembros de los comités que organizan el Avivamiento Eucarístico Nacional y el Congreso Eucarístico Nacional en Estados Unidos.

“El Papa Francisco no ha perdido su simpatía por los ancianos, que son la sabiduría del corazón humano, y por los jóvenes, que son la alma de la Iglesia, donde recibimos la vida, que nos amó hasta el extremo”, dijo. “Nos convertimos en aquellos que cuidamos de nuestros hermanos, especialmente a los pobres, a los que sufríamos, a los que fueron abandonados y que vivieron este misterio eucarístico de Cristo como cuerpo de Cristo”.
